London – it's fast paced and you feel like anything could happen every day.

Do you like living in London? Why?

I like London because of the opportunity for growth and self-improvement. It's fast paced and you feel like anything could happen every day. I do dislike the weather. I have a Latina background, so I am always longing for the hot beaches and relaxing summers.

More about you: your job, your lifestyle?

I live in Shoreditch, east London, and have done for the past five years. I speak five languages and have lived in three continents. My skill set and work move between modelling, dancing and personal training. Acting is something that I believe will interest me in the future and I can be great at it.

Your style?

My style is a little bit varied. I often wear sports gear during the week for when I'm training – it's comfy, too. I'm not a huge fan of heels but if I am going on an evening dancing, I will wear a pair. I tend to wear relaxed, street-style outfits day to day.

London Faces is a portrait gallery by Alexandra Roche Photograph. It takes you behind the curtain to feel the diversity of London and discover its most extraordinary characters. With London Faces, Alexa's goal is to shine a light on remarkable personalities and uncover their unique nature and beauty. The outcome of this journey is a vibrant portrait gallery showing the true colours of London. Find her at www.alexarochecom.com or on Instagram @alexarochephotography

Your personality?

I'm bubbly, positive and caring. I have a lot of energy and enthusiasm toward my life and work.

Your values?

Loyalty and respect are my two biggest values. I'm also a big believer in faith and karma.

Your ambition?

I want to have a family and children in the future while being able to have the freedom to travel the world whenever the opportunity should arise. Career wise, I would like to progress my modelling into acting and dancing and create a full-time career with all of these respectively.

What inspires you? What drives you?

Travel, the beach, the sea.

What is your favourite colour and why?

Red, as it symbolises passion for me.
